It's time for your voter registration check-up! Register to vote or check the status of your registration by October 11 so you can Vote For The Health Of It!

Health care workers are voters! They serve their patients through medical care and voting for candidates who value the unique health needs of all community members.

There's a lot at stake this election. Candidates who are elected will influence the future of women's health access, mental health services, senior care, and the cost of prescription drugs, among other issues.

A stronger, healthier community requires elected leaders who prioritize health care workers, patients, and their families. Learn more about where candidates stand on health care topics so you can confidently cast your ballot.

What's your plan? Now's the time to decide how you'll Vote For The Health Of It! Mail back your early ballot by Nov. 1 or find your nearest voting center to vote on Election Day.
